A robust, manly son and a cooing baby girl nestling in her bosom—what more can any womanly woman ask? It is a boon that Heaven intended should be granted to every woman. Thousands fail of this because they have neglected to look after their health in a womanly way. The health of a woman's babies is dependent upon her own health during the period of prospective maternity. The prospective mother cannot be too particular about her physical condition. If she suffers from local weakness, nervousness or loss of vigor and virility, her children will be weak, puny and sickly. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only unfailing cure for all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that bear the brunt of maternity. It makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It makes the prospective mother strong and cheerful. It robs maternity of its perils. It insures a baby constitutionally strong. It is the invention of an eminent and skillful specialist, who has had thirty years' training in this particular branch, during which time he and his staff of physicians have prescribed for many thousands of women. Medicine dealers sell it and an honest dealer will not urge upon you an inferior substitute merely for the little added profit he may make thereon. "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old," writes Mrs. T. B. Clough (Box 203) of Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. H. "I cannot give too much praise to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Drugs do sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

CURRENCY REFORM.

The gold bug press tried to make it appear during the recent campaign that the financial question was a dead issue. Since the election the gold men have changed their tune and according to the Eastern press they are displaying unusual activity. The Overstreet bill, the Hill-Fowler bill, and the McCleary bill are all under discussion, and an agreement will doubtless be reached before it is advisable to present the measure to Congress.

These bills are in substance the same, differing only in minor details. They all provide for the retirement of government paper currency, the withdrawal of all competition to the exclusive issuance by the banks of paper money, the destruction of silver as a legal tender, and the maintenance of the single gold standard. As this is President McKinley's pet policy there is little doubt that an extra session will be called in March for the express purpose of passing such a bill.

Chairman H. H. Hanna of the National Gold Standard League, is visiting influential Senators and Republican leaders of the next House in the interest of the scheme. The Republican National Committeeman from Wisconsin, H. C. Payne, has been seen, and his services have been secured. Mr. Payne says that Mr. Hanna is going around the country to get the Congressmen in line.

There is no doubt, he says, "that steps will be taken to bring about currency reform, and it is expected that a special session of Congress, to open on March 4th next, will be held. The Currency Reform bill will be included in the call, in all probability. The plan is to take up what is known as the McCleary bill. It is intended also to keep up the work in behalf of sound money through the League organization."

The Salt Lake Herald says: There was a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Gold League held in New York this week. Congressman Fowler of New Jersey attended and gave his opinion that it would be good policy to let the Currency Reform bill remain without action at the coming short session, for the reason that it cannot be gotten through the Senate, and that to debate it in the House would develop antagonisms in the Republican party that would weaken whatever currency measure may be brought up in the next Congress.

It was also the opinion of those present, according to a Republican report of the meeting, that "the President should be urged to call an extra session of the new Congress to convene in the Spring for the enactment of the gold standard into a statute law, and by the adoption of legislation for the credit currency of the country."

SOUTH DAKOTA FAVORS DIRECT LEGISLATION.

The people of South Dakota have ratified a Constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum in legislation. The principle has been recognized by all the States in connection with constitutional amendments, but by none of them in connection with the enactment of laws.

The plan which has been made a part of the Constitution of South Dakota provides that when a particular piece of legislation is demanded by five per cent of the qualified voters of the State that proposition must be submitted by Legislature to the people at the next ensuing general election. If approved by the people, it becomes a law. If the Legislature passes an act to which there is popular objection, that act must be submitted to the people at the next regular election, if petitioned for by five per cent of the qualified voters. If approved by popular vote it stands. If not, it fails to become a law. Under the South Dakota plan, therefore, the people have the power of absolute veto over all unpopular legislation.

NO CALL FOR CONGRATULATION.

The Boston Herald, which supported Mr. McKinley for President, is not particularly exuberant over the result of the recent election. It says: "When Mr. McKinley was chosen President there was a Congress elected with him which in its popular branch contained a Republican majority of sixty. The best that can be hoped now is that the Congress to succeed it will have a Republican majority of a quarter of that number, and there are fears that it will be less. Regarded as a whole, therefore, there is no special call for congratulation. It is no great achievement to have barely escaped defeat in the next election following so triumphant a one as that which bore Mr. McKinley into the Presidency."

The Mining and Scientific Press says that common salt is a great preservative of wood—that there is a stretch of railway track twelve miles long between Wadsworth, Nev., and Ogden, Utah, laid on bottom land on the edge of the Great Salt Lake. The ground is soft, and there is a good deal of salt in it. The ties there are as bright and fresh as when they came out of the tree twenty-nine years ago.

Allen Bragg has commenced his annual plea for a Thanksgiving turkey. Last year the bird failed to materialize, and Allen tried to steal the one left at this office, but was caught in the act.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The President of the Spanish Peace Commission, Sr. Manuel Rios, has refused to continue negotiations in the State Department at Washington and has not been advised of the refusal. Secretary Alger expresses disbelief of the report, or feels that it was probably based on a personal expression of opinion on the part of President Rios and did not necessarily represent the formal opinion of the Commission. But the breach if one has occurred would not surprise the State Department, which has already instructed the American Commissioners to bring the negotiations in Paris to a sharp issue one way or another. If as reported, President Rios has expressed the sentiments of the Peace Commission, the Americans will promptly leave for home.

The Circuit Court at Norwalk, Ohio, has affirmed the verdict rendered in the Common Pleas Court against the Nickel Plate Railway awarding $5,000 damages to Frank Schaffer, a brakeman. Schaffer claims that he was blacklisted by the company and in consequence he was unable to secure employment on any other railroad.

The Grand Jury of Philadelphia yesterday presented true bills of indictment against Senator Quay and his son Richard, charged with conspiracy to unlawfully use public moneys deposited in the Peoples' National Bank of that city.

Corbett and Sharkey will fight in New York this evening before the Lenox Athletic Club. Both pugns are in the best possible condition for the encounter. Corbett is the favorite among the majority of sporting men.

Advices from Honolulu report the arrival of the troopships Pennsylvania and the City of Pualoa on the 12th. They were to take on coal and leave for Manila on the 16th. With two exceptions, the men reached Honolulu in a healthy condition.

The Spanish and American Peace Commission met in joint session at Paris yesterday afternoon. The Americans declared they must have the entire Philippine archipelago and for a treaty session of the islands, the Americans tendered to Spain $20,000,000. It is further declared that it is the purpose of the United States to maintain the Philippines as an "open door" to the world's commerce. On the terms named the United States proposes mutual relinquishment of all claims for indemnity, national or personal, subsequent to the outbreak of the last Cuban insurrection.

November 28 is fixed as the date on which the United States Commission desired a definite response to yesterday's proposition and all other subjects in issue. It is also declared that the United States desires to create the religious freedom of the Caroline Islands, as agreed upon between the United States and Spain in 1896, and also of the acquisition of one of the Caroline Islands for an American naval station, and cable landing rights at other places in Spanish jurisdiction, and the revival of certain Spanish-American treaties as heretofore in force.

The Americans also refuse to arbitrate Article III of the peace protocol bearing upon the future disposition and control of the Philippine Islands. The meeting then adjourned until Wednesday.

The public school at Dayton is temporarily closed on account of scarlet fever.

THE NOSE LASTS LONGEST.

Bone and cartilage enter so largely into the structure of the nose and determine its characteristics that it undergoes little perceptible change, as a rule, with the lapse of years. The nose becomes wrinkled, and crows' feet gather round the eyes, which themselves gradually grow dim as time rolls on. Cheeks lose the bloom which cosmetics cannot replace and lips their fullness and color.

The chin, dimpled in youth, develops angularities or globularities, as the case may be, and the eyebrows become heavy with the crop of many years' growth. The nose shows no mark comparable to these familiar facial indications of the approach of old age and practically enjoys immunity from the ravages which time makes on the other features of the face. Next to the nose, probably the ears, as a rule, show the fewest and least obvious signs of old age.

A Curious Sight.

In Japan the traveler sees many curious sights. One of the strangest of which is the population washing itself at the corners of streets toward evening. In Yeddo the citizens frequent large bathing establishments. The street doors of such resorts stand open, and a striking spectacle, to say the least, is presented by the inmates sitting washing themselves with the utmost unconcern. This is a general custom, and nothing whatever is thought of it. Such an apparent want of modesty is difficult to comprehend and is not reconcilable with the advanced state of civilization of the Japanese. In many other of the manners and customs do the Japs offer a striking antagonism to those accepted by us.

Watching Plants Grow.

Procure a little collomia seed. Take one of the seeds, and with a razor cut off a very tiny slice, place it on a slide, cover with a glass and place under the microscope. The instrument must be in a vertical position. When it is well focused and lighted, moisten it with a drop of water. The seed will absorb the moisture and throw out a very large number of spiral fibers, giving the appearance of veritable germination. Beginners will find it easier if one applies the moisture while the other looks through the instrument.—Microscopical Journal.

A mountain more than 20,000 feet high, and therefore overtopping Mount St. Elias, has been found in Alaska. It is on the right bank of the Suchitna river and was measured by a party from the Geological Survey under G. H. Eldredge. NATIONAL CATTLE CONVENTION.
A Call Issued for its Meeting at Denver. President John W. Springer of the National Live Stock Association has issued the call for the Second Annual Convention to assemble in Denver, Colorado, on January 24 at 10 o'clock A. M. The basis of representation is broad. Each State or Territory Range Association of horse, cattle, sheep or swine breeders, each State or Territorial Sanitary Board, Agricultural College, or Board of Agriculture, each live stock commission or exchange, and each Dairyman's Association are invited to send delegates.

Among the topics to be considered and discussed are bounty laws, an exhibition of live stock at Paris in 1900, the matter of terminal charges at Chicago, forest reserves, feeding-in-transit privileges by railroads and legislation affecting the live stock interest both by Congress and State and Territorial assemblies. Other matters of similar importance which may be suggested may also receive consideration.

The proposed live stock show, and the arrangements already making in Denver for the entertainment of delegates and visitors are also noted. In brief, the call is a comprehensive one, and will commend itself to all who are interested in the cattle industry.

THE CARSON INDIAN SCHOOL.
An Investigation of its Management Being Made.

The Virginia Report has a lively article on a reported investigation at the Carson Indian School. It claims that an investigation has been in progress since September and that things are coming to a head that will implicate several citizens of that city.

It is also asserted that the moral training of the Institute wards has not been as diligently observed as it might and that in consequence of this laxity, gross scandals are rife.

Three very sudden marriages have occurred recently, and four more are or should be on the tapis. So widespread and far reaching is the root of this particular branch of the scandal, that two prominent citizens of Carson had a quarrel and came to blows over certain charges that each had been making.

The Winnemucca Tragedy.
The report of the Winnemucca tragedy as published in the Silver State differed but little from the telegraphic reports published. The Silver State says: "From the position of the bodies when found it would appear that previous to the awful tragedy the parties had been standing in deep conversation and while in that position, without warning, William Lewis had shot Mrs. Hadley twice, one shot penetrating the cheek bone to the right of the face, ranging downward and coming out a little below the right ear, and the other entering the ear, passing through the head and coming out at the neck a little below the left ear, and then seating himself by the fallen body had fired a third shot into his own head, the ball taking immediate effect. There seems to have been no struggle, as the clothing of both parties showed no signs that force had been used in the perpetration of the horrible crime.

The hat of William Lewis laid on the ground a few feet from his body, and that of his victim had merely fallen from her head where she laid. A tan cape of soft material covered her face giving the impression that she threw up her right arm as the revolver was aimed at her head, to save herself from the merciless bullets which passed through the cape."

A coroner's jury had been summoned but had not reported when the Silver State went to press.

The Ball, the Ball, the Fireboys' Grand Masquerade Ball.

Don't forget the grand ball masque next Thursday night given by the boys of Monumental Hose Company, No. 6. The customer is expected here in a day or two, and will have the finest lot of costumes ever brought to this city.

The prices will be within the reach of all, and no excuse can be made for non-attendance on the plea of its being too expensive. Remember, an inspection committee will be on duty and every mask will be raised, so that no one of questionable character will be admitted. Hastings' Wheelmen's band will furnish the music, so that of itself is a guarantee that it will be a success. The prizes are well worth striving for and the special prize for spectators only, gives all who go a chance to win something both useful and ornamental. Be sure to go and help the boys out, as it will be the gala event of the season.

Those Figures.
Considerable comment is made on the figures in the election tables and in some instances an effort is being made to decide bets by them. Quite a number of changes have already been made in the tables published in the JOURNAL and we are trying as rapidly as possible to correct them, but they are quite extensive, and when the total is said to be correct, an error is found in the body of the table and vice versa. It is hoped they will be completed in a day or two so they may be depended upon as absolutely correct. Two years ago changes of the figures were made nearly a month after election and there were not half as many candidates as at the late contest.

The telegraph brings the news that the City of Pueblo reached Honolulu on the 12th inst. This is the transport that the Nevada Troop of Cavalry sailed on. She remained at Honolulu for four days before sailing for Manila and doubtless the boys saw something of life at the Hawaiian capital.

A CARD.

L. AVANSINO Objects to the Complaints Brought Against Him.

The following appears in the NEVADA STATE JOURNAL of November 20th, 1898: "The Jury's attention has been called to the conduct of a certain Italian saloon conducted by L. Avansino situated on the street and being directly north of the Baptist Church in Reno, Nevada, and after investigation, believes that a license should be refused and the place declared a public nuisance and the proper officers be instructed to thoroughly investigate the matter and if found immoral and disorderly, to close and suppress the same."

As far as the above is concerned I most emphatically deny the insinuation that my place is immoral or disorderly. I have paid the required license and have conducted my place of business strictly according to law, the various officers, county and municipal, having had the place under their supervision, the doors always being open to them to make any investigation they might wish.

In regard to immorality I challenge any person to point out a single instance that can come under this head, other than the selling of liquor and beer, under a proper license allowed by law. If this is immoral the Grand Jury need not have looked far to have found the same conditions in nearly every quarter of the town.

It is quite true that dances are held in my house, but they are simply the social gatherings such as my people enjoy and which no reasonable person would object to. On these occasions we endeavor not to disturb or annoy anyone and if our immediate neighbors find no fault, I cannot understand why anyone else should. If it is the idea of the Grand Jury through the municipal officers to place reasonable restrictions on the conduct of my business, I have no objections, but to make the direct charge of immorality, with my family living at the place and proclaiming my place and business a nuisance, I consider a gross injustice to a peaceable citizen and taxpayer who has the best interests of the town at heart, as has been shown by my investments in improvements during the past year. I have carried on the place for eighteen years in the same way that it is now carried on and it is strange that some person has just discovered that it is immoral. I will venture to say that my character and that of my family will compare favorably with that of the person who made the complaint.

Discovered by Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and two bottles, has absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Latz. Thus writes H. O. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby N. C. Trial bottles free S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store Regular size 50c and $1.00 Every bottle guaranteed.

Seriously Injured.
Geo. Smith, the merchant at Washoe met with a terrible accident Sunday evening. Attempted Suicide.
T. O'Neil, a tailor in the employ of John Sunderland attempted suicide Sunday night by attaching a hose to the gas burner in his room, then inhaling the gas. Officer Nash discovered the man in time to prevent him from carrying out his plan. He was taken to the County Hospital and is now recovering. Despondency occasioned by too much whisky was the cause.

Wintime in Canada.
Any one who has visited Canada realizes the difference between Yankee hustling and the easy going way they do things up there. "I should love to go visiting in Canada," says a tired wanderer, "if the people there ever went to bed." "They never go to bed, and they never get up," commented a Hibernian who had been there.

Something must be wrong with the old axiom of how to be healthy, wealthy and wise, for the first at least these Canadians are, and they rarely go to bed much before midnight, nor breakfast much before 9 o'clock. It is an old country custom handed down and comfortably enjoyed. The 9:30 p. m. bedtime of American domesticity is there unknown, and the 7:30 breakfast belongs solely to the lowest laboring classes.

"Oh, yes, I feel splendid this morning. I got to bed early and had a good sleep," said a young man, who had been complaining of weariness and lack of rest. "What time did you retire?" asked the inquisitive American. "Oh, real early," was the reply. "Soon after the clock had struck 12."

—True Times—

The Northwest Indian and His Ways.
The Indian of the plains is a far more picturesque individual than his brother or cousin of the coast. He does not erect totem poles and has no timber for the purpose if so inclined, but he is sufficiently spectacular himself without resorting to grotesque carvings and painted wood. His saddle, with its leather hangings and wooden stirrups, is in itself a remarkable aggregation, and when set off with his goods and chattels tied in bags, rags, strings and straps, the effect is remarkable. He wears the cast off garments of his white brother in such original combinations that he looks like the personification of a secondhand store. Sometimes the adoption of a pair of gurnseys as an external covering gives him quite an athletic appearance. He wears his hair in Gertrude braids, and prefers earrings about the size of half dollar coins. A mosquito net or handkerchief is his favorite head covering, and if he assumes a hat it is as an additional and purely ornamental appendage.—Detroit Free Press.

The Passing of the Rough Rider.
The herd has been corralled and shipped to Spain.
Mule thanks to you, rough rider!
You've rounded 'em up, and we shan't complain.
If, after your months in the sun and rain,
You elect to give your pent feelings rein—
Whoop it up, rough rider!

Fill up and be frisky on coffin paint
If you like, rough rider;
We never supposed that your brand was saint.
We wanted a killer with nary taint
Of bushful forefinger, and none there ain't.
In you, rough rider!

Remember the warning your colonel spoke—
You know him, rough rider—
"For a work or two make a damned fine
bloke.
Then if you stay drunk you're a no 'count
soak!"
Now, while you're a hero, old heart of oak,
Farewell, rough rider!

Caught In His Own Trap.
It is always pleasant to read of instances in which would be practical jokers have had a chance to sample their own wares. In "Life In California," Alfred Robinson tells of a Senor Lago, who often amused the travelers by his stories and eccentricities, and one evening attempted a practical joke, with the following result:
He had loaded a paper cigar with gunpowder and placed it among his cigars. During his visit with me he suddenly asked me to smoke, but I fortunately missed the cigar he had prepared, until finally, from the lateness of the hour, he withdrew.
In the course of the night he awoke,
and feeling a desire to smoke selected from his bundle, quite forgetful of the evening's amusement, the very cigar he had prepared for me. Having lighted it, he returned to bed.
The cigar was about half consumed and he more than half asleep when a sudden explosion carried away the better part of his mustache, and so thoroughly frightened his poor wife that I venture to say the event will never be forgotten.

Klondike Pleasantries.
Tim says that one day he was walking down the main street of Dawson City when he met Emma Kelly, the Topeka girl, and said, "Miss Kelly, your nose is frozen." Miss Kelly looked at him a moment and then replied, "Well, sir, I think yours is too." And so it was. Connelly says he saw the remains of two men who had been buried at Forty Mile five years ago, and the bodies were frozen as stiff as on the day of the funeral. —LaCrosse (Kan.) Republican.
